The Catamount
Volume 6

Foreword

September 12, 1943

Dear Diary:

Between the covers of this book will be a record of experiences at the School on the Hill for 1943-1944, a year in which few men are in evidence but a year in which more pretty girls have graced the campus than ever before.

May these pages capture forever the reminiscences of happy events, studious hours, gala festivities, and friendly relationships with fellow students at Potomac State.

Our Thanks

March 15, 1944.

Dear Diary:

The Staff acknowledges with appreciation the interest shown by Dr. E. E. Church, Dr. W. D. Anthony and the faculty in the production of the sixth volume of The Catamount. Special gratitude is extended to Mrs. E. E. Church, Dr. Nancy Miller, Dr. Elizabeth Atwater, Mrs. James Green, Miss Mary Shipper, Mrs. James Swadley, Mr. Walter Jaworek and Mr. Ervin Dayton for their assistance in group arrangements.

The helpful suggestions of Mrs. Fredericka Garrard of Twin City Publishing Company, of Mr. R. A. Haddock of Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, and of Miss May Rose and Mr. John Rose of the Herald Printing House are gratefully acknowledged.

We appreciate the fine photography of Mr. R. C. Larrimore, and we wish to thank Mr. Coyd Yost and Mr. Edgell Greyson for "shooting" the groups and for developing "glossies," respectively, and for their friendly cooperation.

To all our advertisers and boosters we extend our unreserved appreciation.

Our thanks go to many students who willingly cooperated: Jerry Reed, Dorothy Kalbaugh, Lina Lee Hawkins, Bill Wolverton, Chester Payne, Evelyn Critchfield, David Gambel and Ernest Washburn.

THE STAFF.

We Honor

T/5 David G. Nuzum

November 1, 1943.

Dear Diary:

To T/5 David G. Nuzum, who, before his induction into the United States Army, was head of the English department of Potomac State School, we dedicate the 1944 Catamount.

His activities and ideas have been missed not only by the Catamount staff but by Sigma Phi Omega, the Folio Book Club, and the Student Council, to all of which he gave unstintingly of time and effort.

May this annual be a tribute to the fine spirit of Mr. Nuzum, who has been an inspiration to the success of this and the preceding Catamounts.

President's Message

Every institution, be it family, college or nation, should develop some traditions. Certain symbols reflect the character of the institution, just as distinguishing and distinctive qualities picture personality. Such a tradition on our campus is The Catamount. It gathers its annual harvest of personalities and organizations, and then carefully winnowing the grain from the chaff, it preserves for us the significant personalities and organizations that have performed upon the college stage.

Just now we are confronted by the grim and stark realities of war. In this all out effort many normal activities have been set aside. Only the essentials have been retained. There has been no hesitancy in discarding anything whose real worth could be questioned. And by these standards The Catamount has been maintained, a real tribute to the important place it has assumed in our minds and hearts.

To the sponsor of The Catamount in recent years, and at the beginning of this college year, who has joined the long list of Potomac State's sons and daughters in uniform, to his worthy successor, to a loyal hardworking editorial staff, and to a fine cooperative student body, we offer our congratulations and our thanks. You have been superb in your devotion to this indispensable institution, this noble tradition—The Catamount.

E. E. CHURCH, President.

Dean's Message

Despite many obstacles and tribulations encountered in its preparation, the 1944 Catamount makes its appearance. None who have not participated in its preparation can fully appreciate the difficulties encountered by the staff; nevertheless, here is your book.

The purpose of an annual publication is to preserve in the memories of students and faculty alike the history and traditions of the institution; and such purpose the Catamount fulfills in an adequate and satisfying manner. And as it continues to appear from year to year, it will itself become one of those traditions—one upon which the old graduate may look back in far future years with infinite pleasure. Such is its mission, and such it fulfills.

W. D. ANTHONY, Acting Dean.

Davis Hall

The Dining Hall is located in the same building.

Adele Robinson is president of the girls' wing; Lucile Crane acts as proctor. Irving Byers serves as president and proctor; Lee Sheaffer is also proctor in the boys' wing.

Reynolds Hall

Reynolds Hall, the girls' dormitory, houses thirty-six young women, most of whom are sophomores. Rita Alexander is president of the "angels"; Marion Hartman is secretary-treasurer.

Reynolds Hall was erected in 1925 and was named in honor of Mr. E. B. Reynolds.

High-lights of the year were a "Spook Party" given by the freshmen in honor of the sophomores and a Yuletide party, complete with Santa and gifts.

Dear Diary

September 12

The campus is dotted with freshmen; some are excitedly locating an unknown "roomie"; others are being convoyed by Mom and Pop; here is one already looking forlorn—that will never do! Lunch in Davis Hall was followed by convocation in the auditorium.

September 13-15

Placement tests, physical exams, registration, theatre parties and a few drastic cases of homesickness!

September 17

The excitement of attending classes for the first time paled into insignificance after the "auditorium ordeal": each girl was given a generous amount of cold cream "in the face", topped off with a shower of "smelly" talcum; each female head was swathed in yards of Turkish toweling, turban fashion. Boys were decorated with the traditional lipstick insignia and were pictures of sartorial perfection in the gay stripes and bright polka-dots of bulky pajamas. All this beauty was displayed in the annual Snake Dance through the streets of Keyser. The fate of a freshman!

September 21

Girls in fluffy frocks and boys in "Sunday best" moved valiantly down the faculty reception line at the Student Reception. After the gauntlet was run, the gaiety commenced.

October 8

The Sigma Epsilon Chi held the first sorority party, a benefit bridge at Reynolds Hall, which was a success.

October 15

After a week of elaborate compliments and parties, the excitement culminated in the acceptance by the sororities of their elated pledges. Wait until Hell Week, gals!

The Pasquino staff presented the first of a series of musical programs by candle-light, a delightful innovation.

October 26

Mr. Nuzum, head of the English department, left for induction into the U. S. Army. A guard of honor, consisting of the Three Musketeers, escorted him to the train. We shall miss him! Mrs. Nuzum, who will now sit behind her husband's desk, promises to keep us posted on the progress of "Bucky Private."

School without Major and Buck would not be P. S.

Dear Diary

November 6

Congressman Jennings Randolph was the principal speaker at the Homecoming Luncheon today. A tour to show the Alumni improvements on the campus was followed by a late afternoon tea at Reynolds Hall. The high-light of events, of course, was the gala Homecoming Ball, presided over by Dolly Nesselrodt, Miss Catamount V. Her escort was Ensign William Loy, a former student, home on leave from the U. S. Naval Air Corps.

Because of the "beau" shortage, several damsels turned gallants and squired their best girl to the dance with admirable aplomb—gardenias 'nd everything!

November 19

A gay, checkered Gingham Dance was held tonight under the sponsorship of the Sigmas. Informal and considerable "square" fun.

November 24

The Phi Sigs and the Sigmas held an informal party at the Blue Jay Tavern, but there was nothing blue about the party.

November 25

Thanksgiving! But not enough of either holiday or of our feathered friend!

December 3

The Gammas' skating party proved quite successful, and everyone had a happy, though perhaps "uncomfortable" evening. "You'll be hurting!"

December 11

The annual Jingle Bell Hop was a merry, gay affair. Queen Jerry and King Tom presided regally and right royally commanded a joyous evening for the revelers, who will always remember the occasion as one of Christmas gaiety in a beautiful setting.

December 14

The Christmas party at the dining hall this evening continued the holiday festivities. The room was bedecked with evergreens; each table was cleverly decorated; and a hugh spruce tree beautifully adorned was the center of attraction. Everyone had fun, and we once again staunchly believe in Santa Claus.

December 17

At last! The Christmas holidays—ten beautiful days, completely free from books and such. We aim to have fun. Merry Xmas, Diary!

December 29

Classes resumed today—there are large gaps in some of them. Who extended the vacation and didn't tell the rest of us? Exams are too close for comfort.

January 1

A holiday! We are thankful for small blessings. To make or not to make resolutions is the question.

Dear Diary

January 21

Second semester registrations were made today. One semester behind us, and classes begin again tomorrow.

January 24

Why all this feverish activity on the part of the "Kittymount" Staff? There is much flourishing of scissors, paste, rubber cement, and rulers. They seem determined to have a yearbook!

January 28

Some of these English students who have sent notes to T/5 David G. Nuzum have received answers with a miniature photo attached. Those of us who received answers but no picture are a little disappointed.

February 3

A few fuses were blown, but after this slight delay, Mr. Yost began "shooting" the group pictures, all of which were satisfactory in spite of the fact that the W. A. A.'s would not stand still. Maybe they were just shivering. Even Major saw the "birdie".

February 4

"Mrs. O'Leary's Cow", gr-r-reen that she was, makes good!

February 13

The girls of Davis Hall were "at home" today. Their Valentine Tea was charming.

February 14

Some four or five inches of snow fell to make this a Christmasy St. Valentine's Day. Dan Cupid complains that all his targets are feminine and that he is an expert marksman to no avail.

The Gammas had an informal evening tea with hearts and flowers amid all the snow flakes.

Who sent all those comic Valentines? Such taste!

February 23

Unfortunately the pictures that Eloise Twigg thought would be featured in Life appeared only in a Cumberland paper! Too bad!

February 25

An all-time high in giggles and hilarity prevailed during the voting on Who's Who. Lee Sheaffer insisted he "couldn't think of any women." Not even Emilie?

February 29

Miss Shipper is frantic! She has to referee tussles between industrious freshmen and determined sophomores over material for research papers.

March 1

A lion is right! Snow and everything. The Sigmas initiated Hell Week: new fashion in skirts; dolls and pandas in evidence. Mrs. Nuzum had no idea Eleanor Pritts and Barbara Proudfoot could recite jingles so "sweetly."

Who would have thought that black cotton hose, clothes on wrong side out, and hair pinned snugly up one side and allowed to tumble down on the other could be so glamorous? Take a gander at a Gamma!

March 3

Leadens skies and snowflakes, blue skies and sunshine, all in one day! Surely Spring is just around the corner of March. Robins are on the campus again.

March 6

The formal initiation of the Gammas was held at Reynolds Hall, which was gala with evening dresses and yellow roses.

March 10

Mr. Dayton has set a rabbit trap. Is there a shortage of Easter Bunnies?

March 15

Diary, we're off to Champaign, Illinois. Wish us luck! We'll be seeing you in May. 'By now.

Spring concludes the Year that Autumn began!

Homecoming Ball

Dear Diary:

Amid the gold and blue of the tenth annual Homecoming Ball, sponsored by the Student Council, Dolly Nesselrodt, an attractive sophomore, was honored as Miss Catamount V. Dolly was presented with an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses in tribute to her popularity and to her fine scholastic attainments.

With Ensign William Loy as her escort, Miss Catamount V led the Grand March. The dance music for the evening was played by "Tink" Atkins and his orchestra.

Dear Diary:

In a fragrant setting of Yuletide pine, pretty, petite Geraldine Reed was chosen Queen of Winter to reign at tonight's Jingle Bell Hop, sponsored by Phi Sigma Nu and Sigma Epsilon Chi.

Jerry was selected for her charming personality and for her popularity in her sorority. After the Grand March she was formally crowned, with Tom Bosley as her King and escort.

Music was furnished by "Tink" Atkins and his orchestra.

Sigma Epsilon Chi

Sigma Epsilon Chi, originated in 1923, is Potomac State's oldest sorority. It is a local organization, although at one time it was affiliated with a national junior college sorority, Sigma Iota Chi. The promotion of congeniality, sisterly devotion, responsibility and consideration for others are its ideals.

Aided by the Phi Sigma Nu Fraternity, this group sponsored the Jingle Bell Hop in honor of Miss Geraldine Reed, who was crowned Queen of Winter; Mr. Thomas Bosley was King. A Gingham Dance in November was also sponsored by the sorority.

The "Rush Party" was held on October 12. "Hell Week" took place in March as did the initiation of twenty-five pledges at a formal dinner.

Eta Upsilon Gamma, the only national junior college sorority on the campus, was established at Christian College, Columbia Missouri. The sorority's aims are to promote scholarship, to stimulate school spirit, and to enrich and broaden friendship.

The first of the year, Miss Frances Doak was initiated as co-sponsor to assist Mrs. James Green, sponsor.

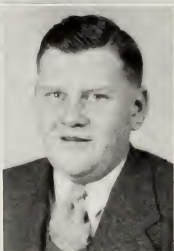

Thirty girls became Gamma pledges after attending a Rush Party held October 13, 1943. Hell Week and Initiation were held in March.

Miss Dolly Nesselrodt was honored as Miss Catamount V at the Homecoming Ball.

The Phi Sigma Nu was originally a national junior college organization which was later disbanded. The group is now known on the campus as a local social fraternity.

The Phi Sigma Nu, together with the Sigma Epsilon Chi, sponsored the fifth Jingle Bell Hop, honoring Miss Geraldine Reed, the Queen of Winter, and Mr. Thomas Bosley, her escort.

The fraternity upholds certain standards such as scholastic achievement, high morals, a better college spirit, and a greater interest in all school activities. The group strives to promote better relations between college students and to establish a life-long bond of friendship between members.

As is the custom, Theta Sigma Chi sponsored the election of Miss Catamount, who was named at the Homecoming Ball. Miss Dolly Nellelrodt, who received the title, was presented with a bouquet of roses by William Carrier, Theta president the first semester.

Theta Sigma Chi Fraternity, which is a local organization, was founded on the campus of Potomac State in 1924. In 1931 a charter was issued and a Beta chapter founded at Shepherd State College.

The ideals of the fraternity are the promotion of fellowship, high moral standards, scholarship, and social betterment. Theta Sigma Chi is highly rated, having won upon every occasion the Dean's Scholarship Trophy, which is presented each year to the fraternity which has the highest scholastic standing. Theta members stand high among their fellows and are active in all social organizations on the campus.

Chester Payne, chosen this year to head the student body for the second semester, was the president for the latter half of the year.

Sigma Phi Omega

Sigma Phi Omega was established on the campus in 1923 for purpose of giving recognition to outstanding scholarship and leadership. Election to membership in Sigma Phi Omega is an honor coveted by Potomac State students.

At one of the first convocations of the year, Sigma Phi Omega presented to the student body the outstanding campus leaders, who explained the work and plans of the various organizations. The companion program paying tribute to student attainment will again be sponsored by the honor society at the close of the year, as will also the annual banquet wherein student and faculty members join in honoring those newly elected to the organization. Throughout the year, the sale of United States War Stamps and Bonds continued through the efforts of this group and the cooperation of the student body.

The Folio Book Club was organized in 1939. The aims of the club are to stimulate an interest in and keep members informed on new books.

The club meets each first and third Wednesday afternoon in the Library. At that time some guest speaker reviews a book. On a few occasions, it has been possible for the club to hear some author, the most celebrated being Carl Sandburg.

The group sponsored a number of student mixes which have been extremely popular.

This spring will see the Potomac State Pasquino's completion of twenty-five years of service on the campus. Our fortnightly newspaper is published under the supervision of the class in journalism, with the assistance of the staff members.

A member of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, the school paper endeavors to adhere to the policies of that organization while giving public expression to the best interests of the school and the student body.

The Pasquino is printed at the Mineral Daily News-Tribune Building, where the students get first-hand experience at proofreading and general make-up work.

"Meet that Deadline," June threatens; the "Cubs" scurry!

Potomac Players

The Potomac State Players, originated in 1919, is the oldest cultural group on the campus. In order to give the Players an opportunity to meet the requirements for membership in Delta Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, the club was divided into five groups competing in the presentation of one-act plays, chosen, cast, directed, and managed completely by the students. Other productions were also presented.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club was organized in 1936. Its purpose is to promote interest and to develop leadership in the field of home economics.

The course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics at West Virginia University if so desired and is planned for those who wish to teach or for those who merely wish to learn the business of home-making.

Membership is based purely on interest and consists of those students participating in the courses of food, clothing, and interior decoration. The clothing class began an active year by making table cloths; the foods group sponsored bake sales and helped serve several community dinners. Both aided in the war effort by folding Red Cross bandages; some members enrolled in the Home Nursing Class.

The outstanding achievement of the year was the membership into both State and National Home Economics Associations.

Engineers Club

The Engineers' Club has been active since its organization in 1931. The main purpose of the group is to acquaint the prospective engineers with the different fields of engineering.

Major activities have consisted of participation in a Morse-Code receiving project, the equipment for which was similar to that used by the Army and Navy. Inspection trips have been cancelled for the duration. The club has shared round-table discussions regarding "the engineer's place in the post-war world." Professional engineers were invited to these meetings.

In spite of numerous complications in photography and difficulties in securing a printer, the Catamount went to press on schedule. Although individual pictures were taken before Christmas, work on make-up did not begin until after New Year.

Without the generous cooperation of faculty and students and without the industry of loyal staff members, the copy could not have been completed for May publication.

Student Council

The Student Council is the official governing organization of the student body. Directing student activities and promoting school spirit are the Council's major objectives.

During Freshman Week the Council aids in the orientation program for the new students; the selection and enforcement of freshman rules are delegated to the Council. The "Kangaroo Court" metes out punishment to erring Freshmen.
